

Toward my Seat, and in that motion might
Omit a ward, or forfeit an offence
Which crav'd that very time: it is much better
(Cornets. a great cry and noice within crying a Palamon.)
I am not there, oh better never borne
Then minister to such harme, what is the chance?

Enter Servant.

Ser. The Crie's a Palamon.

Emil. Then he has won: 'Twas ever likely,
He lookd all grace and successe, and he is
Doubtlesse the prim'st of men: I pre'thee run
And tell me how it goes.

Shows, and Cornets: Crying a Palamon.

Ser. Still Palamon.

Emil. Run and enquire, poore Servant thou hast lost,
Vpon my right side still I wore thy picture,
Palamons on the left, why so, I know not,
I had no end in't; else chance would have it so.

Another cry, and shows within, and Cornets.

On the sinister side, the heart lyes; Palamon
Had the best boding chance: This burst of clamour
Is sure th'end o'th Combat. Enter Servant.

Ser. They saide that Palamon had Arcites body
Within an inch o'th Pyramid, that the cry
Was generall a Palamon: But anon,
Th' Assistants made a brave redemption, and
The two bold Tytlers, at this instant are
Hand to hand at it.

Emil. Were they metamorphis'd
Both into one; oh why? there were no woman
Worth so compold a Man: their single share,
Theit noblenes peculier to them, gives
The prejudice of disparity values shortnes

Cornets. Cry within, Arcite, Arcite.
To any Lady breathing — More exulting?
Palamon still?

Ser. Nay, now the sound is Arcite.

Emil. I pre'thee lay attention to the Cry.

Cornets.

Cornets. a great showt and cry, Arcite, Arcite.

Set both thine eares to'th busines.

Ser. The cry is

Arcite, and victory, harke Arcite, victo
The Combats consummation is proclaim
By the wind Instruments.

Emil. Halfe sights saw

That Arcite was no babe: god's lyd, hi
And costlines of spirit look't through him
No more be hid in him, then fire in flax
Then humble banckes can goe to law wi

Good Palamon would miscarry, yet I k
Why I did thinke so; Our reasons are no
When oft our fancies are: They are com
Alas poore Palamon.

Enter Theseus, Hipolita, Pirithous, Arcite, attendants, &c.

Thes. Lo, where our Sister is in expect
Yet quaking, and unsettled: Fairest Emily
The gods by their divine arbitrament
Have given you this Knight, he is a goo
As ever strooke at head: Give me your h
Receive you her, you him, be plighted w
A love that growes, as you decay;

Arcite. Emily,

To buy you, I have lost what's dearest to
Save what is bought, and yet I purchase
As I doe rate your value.

Thes. O loved Sister,

He speakes now of as brave a Knight as e
